Translation of the Verses from the Quran

All Praise is due to Allah. So we praise him. We seek Security and assistance only from him. It is only from Allah we seek the straight path we totally submit ourselves to Allah. We seek refuge in Allah from the evil of our self and from the evil consequences of our deeds. There is none to lead astray whom Allah has guided to the straight path and there is none to guide him aright whom Allah leads astray. We bear witness that there is no God but Allah, and that Mohamed is the messenger of Allah. May peace and blessing of Allah be upon prophet Mohamed and his family and his Companions?

Allah has revealed in Quran “Among his Signs is, that he created for you mates from among yourselves that you may dwell in tranquility with them and he has put love and mercy between your hearts, verily in that are signs for those who reflect “.

The subject matter of the sermon.

Marriage is a sacred contract established in the Islamic law (shariath) for the purpose of, maintaining the heredity of ma kind. In which parties, the man and wife are held together in agreement to protect and respect and be responsible by the law to honor the promise of union of them in marriage.

Marriage in the religion of Islam is the lawful union of the man and a woman, thereby unifying their lives into one. After marriage, happiness received to the other. Sorrow or adversity met by

One person is shared with the other in the same manner. Marriage, is based on three principals are maintained within the frame work of the principals of Islam.

Therefore I advice you, both to abide by the conditions under which you enter in to this marriage, based on principles if the religion and morality, in that both of you should love, and be faithful and honest with each other, respect and trust each other, and live in peace and harmony. None of you should cause any harm to the other, in way of hurting or injuring the other or cause pain in any manner which may affect or destroy the harmonious relationship that should be maintained with each other.

The wife should uphold her husband in everything he does and respect and obey him as long as he holds to principles of Islam in what he does.

The husband too shall treat the wife nobly and give respect to her and should remain faithful to the wife.

Both the parties should take their varied responsibilities bestowed on to them in good spirit and should carry their respective duties, obligations. That is required of them both in their lives together at all times.

When the couple is blessed with children, both husband and wife should share equally in the duties and responsibilities of bringing up the children in an appropriate manner, and seek to maintain and protect the rights of the children.
